LOCKED IN A FLOATING TOMB.

"I see by this morning's paper," said Mr. M[illegible], "that Mrs. O'Klantikop is married again. Her last husband, Major O'Klantikop, used to board here. He spent his winter in Florida hunting alligators, and he was the most devoted sportsman I never saw; but he never was satisfied with the old method of [illegible] with a rifle. There was a great waste [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] he would [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] led with something that pleased his fancy very much; when he swung his upper jaw back to laugh the Major thought it was a floating derrick; but when the animal came within range, O'Klantikap saw that it was a monster alligator, and he pulled the lanyard. The aim was beautiful. The shell struck just inside the tip of the lower jaw, and as it rolled along toward his throat, the change in the alligator's expression was remarkable; he shut his mouth with a clip that was heard ten miles away, and fairly humped himself as the bomb rolled down his interior. About midway of the body the shell exploded. The explosion could not bring back the happy alligator's last gleeful fancy, but it more than restored his openness of countenance. The Major said subsequently, however, that while this method of destroying alligators was undoubtedly effective, it broke 'em up too fine; and so he left the big gun to rust on the river bank and invented a new plan.

"His outfit this time was a fishing rod, a feather, and a piece of scantling about eight feet in length. Having fastened the feather to the end of the rod, the Major would walk to the edge of the river, reach over the bank, and delicately tickle an alligator's jaws with the feather, and when he closed his eyes and opened his mouth to enjoy the unusual titillation, the Major would quietly step in with the scantling and have the upper jaw braced back before the alligator knew what was the matter. Then O'Klantikop would calmly put a bullet down his gullet, and take his prize ashore. In this way he captured sixty-seven alligators in four months.

"One day early this spring the pilot of the steamer that runs up the St. Johns saw an obstruction which was not down on the charts, and which had not even been visible when the boat made her previous trip. Backing his engines, the pilot was still more surprised to see the obstruction making toward him. It looked something like a spar buoy adrift, and when it came still nearer it was made out to be a piece of stout scantling sticking up through the upper jaw of a gigantic alligator. The pilot was amazed; but when the story reached Jacksonville the fate of Major O'Klantikop, who had been missing for the past three or four weeks, was no longer a mystery: everybody who was familiar with the Major's style of hunting knew that the strangely planted piece of scantling which the pilot had seen was Major O'Klantikop's tombstone, and that the Major was buried about a few feet back of it. The generally accepted theory was that O'Klantikop, made reckless by uninterrupted success, had miscalculated in placing the top end of the scantling, and the rafters in the roof of the alligator's mouth had given way, letting the mighty jaws together, and locking up the Major in a sarcophagus which, in novelty of design and high qualities of absorption, completely laid over anything in that way ever constructed by the Greeks."—Exchange.

Opposition to the Retirement of Greenbacks.

Congressman Chittenden, of New York, who is heartily in accord with the recommendation of the President and Secretary Sherman for the retirement of greenbacks has made a quiet canvass of the House to ascertain how many Republicans would support a bill embodying it. He has thus far found only twelve, and is therefore decidedly discouraged. A large proportion of even hard-money Republicans believe that, in a political point of view, it would be bad policy to attempt such legislation at present, and there seems to be very little doubt that this proposition will soon be given an effectual quietus by the adoption of a resolution declaring that in the judgment of the House of Representatives the outstanding volume of currency should not be diminished.

The other branch of the President and Secretary's recommendation—namely, that greenbacks should be divested of their legal tender quality, meets with much greater favor, although it is not likely to command a majority in the Senate and will have apparently no chance of adoption in the House.

Senator Bayard, as will be seen from the joint resolution introduced by him to-day, favors continuing in circulation the entire present volume of greenbacks, but would deprive them of their legal tender power for all purposes, except for payment of dues to the United States other than for customs. This he maintains is a strict Democratic doctrine, in accordance with the position taken by that party when greenbacks were first issued.

A Labor Commission.

Senator Hoar introduced a bill in the Senate to-day to establish a Labor Commission. It provides that the President, with the consent of the Senate, shall appoint a commission of five persons to enquire and report as to the extent to which machinery and labor saving processes have entered into the production and distribution of products in general, and the consumption among the people to the displacement of manual labor; also whether any causes are in operation to bring about the ownership and cultivation of lands in large tracts instead of small farms and homesteads; also as to the condition of persons employed in agricultural, mechanical, manufacturing and mining labor in this country, and especially whether any causes are at work to change for the better or worse the condition of such persons, their hours of labor, the education of their children and the proportion received by them of the profits of the occupation in which they are engaged. The commissioners are to hold office for two years, receive an annual salary $4,000 each, be allowed expenses of travel, and have authority to employ a secretary and three clerks, and report to Congress annually through the Secretary of the Interior.

Bailey's bill for the education of the colored people recites that $10,000 has been covered back into the Treasury recently, being the bounty of colored soldiers, unclaimed after seven years, and directs the Secretary of the Treasury to invest that amount in Government 4 per cents, the interest to be apportioned to the five institutions already in operation, where colored people receive education in the higher branches.

[illegible]

One day you will be pleased with a friend, and the next day disappointed in him. It will be so to the end, and you must make up your mind to it and not quarrel, unless for very grave causes. Your friend, you have found out, is not perfect. Nor are you, and you cannot expect to get much more than you give. You must look for much weakness, foolishness and vanity in human nature.

If you would have any friends at all, don't set yourself up for a critic. If you do not like any one's nose, or object to any one's chin, do not put your feelings into words. If any one's manners do not please you, remember your own. People are not made to suit one taste; recollect that. Take things as you find them, unless you can alter them. Even a dinner, after it is swallowed, cannot be made any better. Continual fault-finding, continual criticism of the conduct of this one, and the speech of that one, the dress of one and the opinions of another, will make home the unhappiest place under the sun. If you are never pleased with any one, no one will be pleased with you; and if it is known you are hard to suit, few will take the pains to suit you.

Elder Coggeshall's withdrawal from the Mormon Church four years ago excited a great deal of interest at the time. He had been of considerable importance in the Council of Brigham Young, and was officially d——d with elaborate ceremonies, after his departure. He now turns up as an actor in St. Louis. Of Mormonism he says: "The President and Council rule with a rod of iron, and the worshippers are plundered and robbed by them in the name of religion, while the same name is also used as a cloak to hide other and more devilish atrocities." To the suggestion that such things were confined to the past, Mr. Coggeshall replied: "They exist now, though kept a little quieter than formerly. At one time the knife and the shotgun were used, but the day for these weapons has passed, and now poison is called into requisition as a means of getting rid of apostates. As no Gentile doctor is allowed to attend Mormon patients, the chances of discovery are small indeed." He talked still more wildly of the Nauvoo Legion, the members of which, he says, are the successors of the Danites as assassins for the Church. Two attempts, he says, have been made to murder him.

A New Railway Project.

Mr. Claybourne, of the engineer corps of the Union Pacific Co., is in the city to-day to purchase supplies for his party now at Blue Creek.

This party of surveyors went to the mouth of Goose Creek, on the Snake river, last June, and began the lining of a route from that point to Ogden for a standard gauge road, and have reached Blue Creek, coming this way.

Surveys were also made to a connection with the Utah & Northern, with a view of using its road-bed from there to a point this side of Snake river. Another party began work at the same place and since, going down the Snake, and, a few days ago had reached a point near The Dalles. This indicates an entirely new road from here to Portland, that will add another important factor to Ogden's prominence as a great railroad centre.—Dispatch.

DIVINE SERVICES.

There will be divine service at the school house, on Friday evening at seven P. M. by Rev. J. L. Gillogly.

A cordial welcome is extended to all who may come.

Ladies who intend keeping "open house" on New Years day, will oblige us by sending us their names and personals connected therewith, as early next week as possible.

Richard Mills has been engaged in repairing the school-house during the past week.

The District Court will probably adjourn this week.

The [illegible] school [illegible] over the nice time they are [illegible] with their Christmas Tree.

L. W. [illegible], James Boyle, T. F. Singiser Esq., Frank Potter, and others went [illegible] to Malad on Saturday last.

Theatrical

We understand there is to be a theatrical entertainment of some kind at the old church on or about Christmas. The club having the entertainment in preparation, have not informed us of the exact time the engagement is to commence.

Rowell the Furniture Dealer, has just received an addition to his stock. Husbands buy your good wife a new Rocking chair for a Christmas present, that she may be able to take some comfort these long winter evenings.

Deer and other wild game is plenty in the timber, so hunters say.

W. P. Fisher has received a large stock of Christmas Toys for this market. Parents, and Santa Claus should take a look at his stock before purchasing the nice things to fill the good little boys and girls stockings.

Peter Peterson jr., has gone to Ogden to take lessons on the violin.

The nights are made hideous by the constant baying of dogs in savage onslaught upon the innocent and unoffending cow. Why not give the old cow a chance? Or else give her something to eat.

Four dogs hanging to the tail of a cow and one fastened to her nose ought to be enough to show her how dog—on rough the path of vice is.

Yet she will shake 'em off and go back to a haystack every time. Mole says, can it be denied that cows have a sole—leather.

CHRISTMAS TREE.

The young [illegible] appointed to secure a Christmas Tree, consisting of Rudolf Larsen, Jefferson Stack, assisted by Thomas Gooch secured a fine one in the canon west of town.

It is the wish of the superintendent and officers of the sabbath school, that parents having anything to put upon the tree for their children, will take it to the school-house at 1 o'clock the day before Christmas, where a committee will be in attendance to see it properly marked, and placed upon the tree.

Christmas Tree.

The following named ladies and gentlemen are appointed a committee to attend to the dressing of the Christmas Tree viz: Mrs. Phelaod Mrs. Judge Morgan, Mrs. Judge Crawford, Mrs. H. M Bennett, Mrs. F. G. Timoney, Mrs. C. B. Fox, Mrs. Benedict, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Singiser, Mrs. Rowell, Mrs Straight, Mr. Bursley Bibb, W. S. Caulfield, J. Hurst, W Rowell, James. Boyle. They will please meet at the School House on Tuesday the 23d at 1 oclock to attend to their special work. The young Misses of the sunday school under the charge of Miss. Lu. Timoney, will lend such assistance as may be necessary.

Mrs J. T. Morgan, son and daughter and Mrs. Willard Crawford returned from Malad on Wednesday last.

Acquitted.

A verdict of acquittal was returned in the Benedict perjury trial, on Tuesday last. A motion was then made to take up the case of Chas. Tyndale; under indictment on the same charges. Judge Morgan wanted to know of the Prosecuting Att'y., whether any new evidence would be introduced against Mr. Tyndale, and added that no case could be made on the evidence already put in, further that he would have been obliged to set aside any verdict than the one returned, the evidence being altogether insufficient.

THE OGDEN DAILY DISPATCH

The Ogden Evening DISPATCH came to our table last Tuesday morning before breakfast, with a new dress and enlarged to a seven column paper. The Dispatch is now the earliest paper received by the business men along the line of the Utah Northen Railroad, containing full telegraphic dispatches, and will of course receive their support. Its Editor Hon. M. N. Brewster is thoroughly acquainted with the best interests of the whole country is versatile and racy writer, so led in the highest political arena of the country, and is a gentleman whom it is a pleasure to know. We bespeak for the Dispatch the support of all live business men, throughout the great interior valley. The Dispatch Publishing Company with that live and energetic gentleman O. B Bradford Esq. as manager, will try to meet the demands of the reading public, as well, as the wants of the business men of Ogden, in furnishing them with a readable as well as a first class newspaper.

It will be a throughly "anti-polygamy" newspaper, wide awake, and newsy.

RAILROAD PROJECT.

It is officially announced that the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company have purchased steel rails, locomotives and equipments for two hundred miles of standard-gauge railroad, to be constructed in eastern Oregon and Washington Territory, during the year 1880. Fifteen hundred tons of the rails are now on the ship Orient, soon to sail from Cardiff for Portland. One hundred miles will be built from the Dalles up the Columbia River, to connect with the existing Walla Walla Railroad; fifty miles more would be an extension of the latter to Snake River, and the remainder will connect Texas Ferry on Snake River, with the heart of the Palouse country. It is stated that these extensions and new constructions are made for the purpose of opening up, in conjunction with the Northern Pacific, the great grain producing district of eastern Washington Territory. The line of the Northern Pacific in this region, extends from the mouth of Snake River northeastwardly to the Bitter Root mountains, a distance of 200 miles.

NEW YORK HERALD; "The President has offered to Senator Edmunds the position vacated by Judge Hunt. The Senator has accepted.

The Democratic side of the Senate will be only too glad to rid themselves of so powerful an enemy by confirming him, while the Republicans will sustain a loss almost irreparable.

Episcopal Service.

Rev. J. L. Gillogly of Ogden will hold Divine services at the school house on Friday evening next at 7 o'clock p. m. All are cordially invited to attend the service.

Mother—"Now Emma, what is the tenth commandment?" Emma, aged five—"The same as it was last Sunday."

If Sara Bernhardt had been Eve, we should know that the rib of an umbrella had been used instead of one of Adam's.

National Republican Committee.

Washington special: Five members of the national Republican committee, including Gorham, are here and discussing the questions to come before the committee, the most serious of which is Gorham's case.

Both Frye and Chandler say they will not be candidates for chairman nor will they serve if elected

McCormick will be secretary, his resignation not having been accepted.

The mail service on the Utah & Northern railroad only extends, at present, from Ogden to Franklin. From Franklin, northward to the Terminus, the postoffices have been supplied by pouches to put their letters in which would be taken aboard the train and travel around up and down the rail road until they run against a route agent which accident never occurred the other side of Franklin, when the mail would be made up, and in course of time, the letters would reach the persons to whom they were addressed, provided they were not miscarried or lost.

The postoffice department has ordered an extension of the mail service to the Terminus, which provides for a route agent to take charge of the mail along the line to that point.

This service has been needed for long time, and has been much prayed for by the people living along this road. We thank Judge Key for ourselves and in behalf of our patrons, for his promptness in responding to the wants of the people of Utah and Idaho.

Trains on the Utah and Northern are running through to the terminus although the snow is two or three feet in the Beaver Canon.

Judge McCurdy, and his son and wife all of Salt Lake City, arrived in Oxford on monday last and will locate on the Mc Bride ranch north of this city for the winter. We welcome the Judge among us and hope he may find everything to please him.

George Q. Cannon has taken two concubines to his harem since 1872.

Sorry to lose him.

We regret to lose for the winter our esteemed friend John C. Young who has been engaged in the stock business on a ranche near the city, during the past season. He departed for the city of the saints and saintesses, on tuesday last and we shall not have the pleasure of seeing his benign countenance for several months.

Sheriff Watson was in town on Tuesday and served a subpoena on Miss Eliza Cooper in the perjury case, a continuation of the Baise Benedict land suit, trying at Malad. Miss Frankie Cooper was wanted, but promptly concealed herself on hearing of the sheriff's arrival, and could not be found until after his departure with her sister. She is supposed to have been hid behind the clock or down the well.

One of the most enterprising and the leading grocery House of Ogden, that of Fred J. Keisal & Co. are doing an immense business these "booming times." Their trade is constantly increasing and they deserve it.

MUSICALE SOCIABLE.

On Friday Evening last Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Fox entertained a few of their friends with a musicale.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Mrs. F. G. Timoney Miss. Lulu Timoney Mrs. J. A Straight and Miss. Nellie Straight Mr Bursley Bibb and W. S Caulfield

Mrs. Fox, who is a very fine performer upon the Piano, favored her guests with a few selections from her extensive repertoire among which were a few gems from the standard Operas. Mrs. Fox and Mr. Bibb also executed two or three duets which were heartily enjoyed by all present. Mrs. Bennett sang several melodies in very excellent style showing a high state of voice culture.

She has an excellent mezzo soprano voice and is enthusiastic in her love of good music. Mrs. Straight and daughter Nellie also shared in entertaining those present.

We hope these sociables will be kept up during the winter, as they are very enjoyable occasions.

The Idaho Enterprise.

THURSDAY, DEC. 18, 1879.

THE ENTERPRISE is for sale at the well-known store of Clutter & Dodge, at the Terminus of the Utah & Northern Railroad, and at Mr. Alexander's News Agency, in the post-office building, Ogden.

Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania has been chosen chairman of the Republican national committee.

General Mahone succeeds Senator Withers, from Virginia. The vote was: Mahone, 56½ Withers, 40, and Wickham, 2, in the House. In the Senate Mahone, 23 Withers, 13. The joint ballot will be merely formal Holiday Recess.

In the House of Representatives, Blount's amendment to have the Christmas recess commence on the 19th was adopted, yeas 125, nays 103, and the concurrent resolution as amended was agreed to.

Big Mining sale.

Gilmer, Salisbury & Co. have sold 37,000 out of 40,000 shares which they owned in the Deadwood gold mine to Messrs. Haggin & Co., for $800,000. This is the largest sale of mining property that has ever taken place in the Black Hills. Gilmer, Salisbury & Co., originally paid $80,000 for which they now realize ten fold.

Boom of Bonds.

The Utah & Northern sympathize with the Eastern railroad boom. It has done a good business the past year and its earnings have largely exceeded its operating expenses.

The New York STOCKHOLDER of the 25th ult., notices the fact that the bonds of this road have advanced from 60, the selling price a few months ago, to 95, present quotations.

TELEGRAMS CONDENSED.

Eureka consolidated declares a fifty cent dividend.

Saboureff is to represent the Czar at the Berlin court.

Grant has been received at Harrisburg in real Pennsylvania style.

A. Haywards and friends control the Gould and Curry mine.

Two english travelers have been captured by brigands in Epirus. £6,000 are demanded for their ransom.

The World's Washington correspondent says: Mrs. Sprague has authorized her attorney to draw up papers for a divorce from Governor Sprague.

The Church organ says: "These anti-Polygamy people do not attempt to prove that he (Cannon) has ever broken the law of 1862." What is the use of proving a truism? It is well known that Cannon married his third wife, Eliza Tenney in 1876, and his fourth wife, Martha Telly, three years subsequently. Are dates and facts to be given every time these lawless Churchmen are mentioned?

A Good Organization.

New York, December 8.—The United States Mining Investment Company is the name of an organization just announced here, the object of which is stated to be practically that of a bureau, to meet the pressing demand for reliable information relative to gold and silver mines. For this purpose a large corps of engineers will be employed to examine all the best of the Western mines, and agencies will be established in the mining districts.

Only dividend paying mines will receive the attention of the company.

The belief of the organizers is that nearly 99 per cent of the mines, the stock of which is offered in Eastern markets, is not worthy of indorsement. The information of the company will be sold to regular subscribers or other applicants. The following officers were elected: Edward Bates Dorsey, President; Henry Havemeyer, Joseph D. Fish, Wm. D. Guler, A. Foster Higgins, and Arthur F Wilmarth, Vice presidents; S. A Wheelwright, Secretary; John G Bancker, Assistant Secretary; F. L Jones, Treasurer. The capital stock is $200,000.
