

The Idaho Enterprise.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1879.

THE REMARKS are for sale at the well known store of Chas. & Dodge, at the Terminus of the Utah & Northern Railroad, and at Mr. Alexander's News Agency, in the post-office building, Ogden.

Lead Notes.
Descriptive weather for the past month.
Excellent roads.
Plenty of game in the mountains.

Mr. James Doyle has entered 100 acres of land adjoining his ranch, under the timber culture act. We hope he may be so successful in his cultivation of trees, as their absence is a marked characteristic of homesteads in our valley.

Capt. Finney brought in a crop of about one hundred bushels of onions from a lot of half an acre in extent. Besides this success he has enjoyed his last table, and many of his neighbors. From the same crop, during this season.

Mr. Mortimer, our City Coroner, says the people are contented. There is still considerable travel toward the mines.

We understand that Rev. J. Thatcher is having a yard run built at Dunsmuir. We are glad to hear of this, as it was a much needed improvement. But we hope while the spirit of improvement is upon our most excellent people, that he will move up to Ogden and take a comfortable abode here.

It would be long, and not very much, and we certainly think the Utah and Northern has lost its steam.

Mr. Horst's ball on Monday evening was a success.

Apollo Orson Pratt enlightened his hearers on the Order of Zion, on Wednesday evening. It is of opinion that the Bishop of his church will control the financial affairs of the people when they gather at their final resting place in Jackson county, Mo.

Would the layman of means like to make such a wholesale purchase?

Divine Services.
The Rev. M. B. Hyde, Pastor of the P. F. Church at Ogden, will visit Ogden and preach in the schoolhouse on Tuesday evening, Nov. 11th, and perhaps on the following evening.

Mr. Hyde informs us by letter, that he will be at this time visit Ogden on a Sabbath, but will try to do so at another time. All are cordially invited to attend these services.

CALIFORNIA LETTER.

A GRAND GRANT OVATION.

The Author's Carnival, and the Walkists.
San Francisco, Oct. 23, 1879.
General Grant arrived from Oregon on Tuesday morning and on the evening of the same day, the spectators of the Crocker mansion were thrown open for the edification of the General and party and the numerous friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crocker, the latter gentleman having most lavishly prepared for the evening's entertainment. I declare I believe it would make the most Christianlike woman in the world, to see the saintly figure to floral offerings that have been prepared in this city during the past month, and all for a man, an appreciative man, for I do not believe our great (or any other man) were in a similar position could tell you a "light shape the beautiful features of 'Glad's' love' look at the various scenes of their adornment, and I therefore consider it a clear case of maelstrom.

Yesterday morning the "Yosemite" bore the Grant family to our Capital, where they were of course received with much cordiality and real magnificence. At the "Golden Eagle" a sumptuous dinner was served, and as the "abode of night" crept on lights sprang up, here, there, and everywhere, until the city was one great blaze of light. A reception of the citizens followed the dinner.

On Tuesday evening the so-called "contest between man and beast" was concluded, and as was supposed by the majority of cool heads, the horse was far in advance, without apparent effort or fatigue.

"Pinafore" the "blonde horse," took the "Kelly" next, and "Dancer" J. M. third in order.

Pinafore beat the b at walking time on record by nine miles, having made 80 1/2 miles in six days. Of the men, Guerrero, the best in the contest, made a comparatively poor showing, having completed only 359 miles. He with Brodie, the "New York wayboy" on ly saved his entrance money, and gained nothing.

On the same evening that closed the men's walk, there was a three hour trial of speed between the ladies Dinley, Madam Tourletotte, Mrs. Maynard, and Miss Alice Dinley.

Mrs. Tourletotte bore off the prize of the first named young lady who allowed herself to be bought off. On receiving a bouquet containing a "tender little miniature" she grew suddenly lame, and was obliged to leave the track. Naughty girl! With the defeat of the men by the horses and the treachery of Miss Dinley, the pedestrian fever has abated Deo Gratias.

Where the first part of the week we saw sad tracks, judgment, peccadilloes, hats, &c., you find lovely grotesques, clouds of fairy drapery, scotch shawls, beetling crags, and every artistic and romantic arrangement that you could suggest, preparatory to the opening of the "Authors Carnival" to night.

If the arrangements have not been so good, and there is no large scale, there is every probability that it will be a great success. There will be thirteen hundred characters representing the authors, and there will be many beauties among the lady participants.

Mr. Dury the senator went for the counties of San Francisco and San Mateo, has had his New York record searched, and as nothing is found to corroborate his assertion that he was actually in that state, the election will probably be decided until and will this is only one of the many mixed features of our recent election.

One "Kenian" through his attorney Mr. Reynolds, proposes to contest the election of all the workingmen's candidates, on the ground of "irregularity."

MISCELLANY

ENCOURAGING THE YOUNG MAN.
Don't let the Youth waste their Prizes on the Desert Air.

[Virginia Chronicle.]
Last evening, after the performance was over at the circus, a young man called on Chiarini and said he wanted to see him on private business. The old veteran took him into his office and received him with his usual politeness.

"I came up all the way from Carson to see the show, and I'd like to join," said the young man.

"Oh! I see," said the circus man. "You are a well formed, healthy looking young fellow, and I like to encourage such as you."

The youth's face brightened.
"You don't chew, smoke or drink, I hope?"

"Oh, no, honor bright—except such a d beer."

"You must leave off these bad habits. They weaken the muscles and paralyze the nerves. You can no longer drink, but your salary will not be large until you have overcome these tendencies. A little lemonade—circus lemonade—is all the performers drink. Call at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, and I will reward you $50. You mustn't expect over $50 a week, though, at first. We never pay high salaries until we know just what a man can do."

The delighted Caronite went away, and this morning was on hand.

Chiarini took him to a tent where three immense Bengal tigers were caged. Handing him a "very com" and a pair of shears, he remarked:

"Your duties will be comparatively light at first. You will go into the cage and carry the tigers down every morning, and about once a week cut their claws; keep 'em down pretty short, so that when they attack the tiger tamer, Mr. Wilson, they won't maul him much. Sometimes, but not more than once a month, you may have occasion to file their teeth. You just throw the animal on his back and hold his head between your knees. If he acts rough belt him on the nose a few times. Keep belting him until he quiets down."

"Haven't you got a vacancy in the art department?" asked the young man from Carson.

"Is art your line?" inquired Mr. Chiarini.

"Yes," drawled the young man. "In the circus I've always run with I was employed to paint the stripes on the zebras. I killed a many tigers keepin' 'em straight the the boss wouldn't let me handle 'em."

Chiarini says the terror from Carson shall have the first vacancy.

Diligence is an inestimable treasure, and produces a defensive chain. Truth is a t always be true, and falsehood false.

When you drink from the stream, remember the spring.

What one leaves is doubtful, what one sees is certain.

The pebble produces white rice, and the rod good children.

A loyal minister will serve but one Prince; a virtuous woman but one husband.
