FOREWORD

The 1929 edition of THE MIRROR was published under many difficulties; notwithstanding, the staff has done its best to provide a book that would be worthy of holding the name of THE MIRROR.

This book is intended to portray the spirit of Malad High School.

This spirit is truly that of loyalty, ambition, co-operation and friendliness. We, the members of this Junior Class, sincerely hope that this annual will be considered, by those who scan its pages, typical of the spirit and activities of our school.

DEDICATION

"The calling of a man's self to a strict account is a medicine sometime too piercing and corrosive. Reading good books of morality is a little flat and dead. Observing our faults in others is sometimes improper in our case. But the best receipt (best, I say, to work, and best to take) is the admonition of a friend."

Francis Bacon

To the friendship that has been shown members of the Junior Class of '29 by the students and the faculty of the M. H. S. we humbly dedicate this volume.

HISTORY OF MALAD HIGH SCHOOL

Students attending Malad High School in 1902, the first year of its history, were Emily Evans Hill, Katie Evans Jones, Leah Jones Hill, Sarah Evans Sweeton, and James B. Jones. The first superintendent was Mr. R. N. Hill, his assistant, Mrs. Esther Evans Davis. Mrs. Davis taught algebra, rhetoric, reading, and general history. Students went to Mr. Hill's office for lessons in physical geography. One year out of high school work was given in the southwest corner, top floor of the old building.

Mr. J. W. Condie became superintendent in 1903. His successor, in the fall of 1905, was Mr. Arthur Welling, who made some improvements and under whose supervision a few outside activities were begun.

Mr. W. J. Cattell became superintendent in the fall of 1907. At this time, there were twenty-nine first year, and two second year students. Freshman subjects were algebra, English, general history and physical geography. Sophomore subjects were algebra, physical geography and geometry. The faculty consisted of Mr. Cattell, Mr. Larson, and Mr. Burlingame. At that time they used two rooms in the old building. During the following year additional courses were offered in Latin, arithmetic, and in the classics. In 1908 the third year work was offered for the first time. Three Juniors were enrolled. In 1911, Mr. Cattell resigned after having greatly improved the school.

In 1911, Mr. E. M. Decker came to Malad as superintendent. During his first year here, the student body entered the new building, now known as the Junior High. At this time additional courses were offered in history, biology, economics, sewing, and cooking. Mrs. R. O. Graham taught sewing; Miss Evans, cooking. Typewriting was also offered for a time, but was soon discontinued. In 1912 fourth year work was offered to a class of four Seniors. That year manual training, ethics, botany, and domestic art were the additional subjects.

In the spring of 1919, Mr. Decker resigned, and in the fall Mr. Ike became superintendent. In the fall of 1920, D. W. Wainwright succeeded Mr. Ike as superintendent. It was during the administration of the former that the new high school building with all its modern conveniences became a reality. About Christmas time in 1921, Malad High School students entered upon their work in the new building.

During the administration of Mr. A. M. Maughn, who became superintendent in the fall of 1922, several new subjects were added to the curriculum. Mr. Maughn was also instrumental in securing many improvements in the school.

In the fall of 1924, Mr. L. A. Thomas became superintendent of Malad schools. When Mr. Thomas came here the high school curriculum was incomplete, and the subjects given were taught at a great disadvantage because of lack of proper equipment. Many new subjects have since been added, and much new equipment has been purchased. Our home economics department has become the largest in the state. In our commercial department we now have twenty typewriters, complete bookkeeping equipment, and courses are given in beginning and advanced shorthand. Our agricultural department is one of the finest and largest in the state, and our agricultural students have won a great many honors for themselves and for the school.

Malad High is now a class A school, that is second to none in the state of Idaho. We have a student body of three hundred seventy members, a superintendent, a faculty of thirteen members, and a four year accredited course.

PARTING NOTE

Let us close our eyes and travel
To the days that used to be,
And let dear thoughts assemble
To make Freshies of you and me.

It was on an autumn morning,
In the year of nineteen twenty-five,
That we journeyed to the high school
Happier than all creatures alive.
To think we were no longer children,
But almost grown women and men,
Ready to join with other students,
But we didn't realize then—
How silly and unutterably dumb,
How inexperienced and how green,
All Freshies entering high school
To the Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors sent.
During our Sophomore year
We became accustomed to the strife,
And started to take some interest
In the activities of School Life.
When we entered the school as Juniors
We decided to make a name:
The Annual, the Prom, and our parties
All added to our fame.

We are now the class of Seniors
And in our parting tho't
Ask you all to accept in your bouquet
A Senior flower—"Forget-Me-Not."

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

"The swiftness of time is infinite, which is still more evident to those who look back upon the past.—Seneca.

It is altogether fitting and proper that the members of the class of '29 record the history of their class. Perchance, in the course of human events, others may read and profit by our experience.

Mildred Hall was our first president, and Shelba Deschamps succeeded her the second semester. When we Freshmen entered high school, we smiled at the upper classmen and pursued our way. Because of the enthusiasm shown by our class, we were considered the peppiest aggregation on the campus. The enrollment of our class was larger than that of any previous class. The many achievements of the Freshman class of '26 furnish examples. We demonstrated to others what could be done by a united group of students.

Next year we were Sophomores. Wesley Williams was selected president the first semester, and Ione Evans the next. We are certainly indebted to Mr. Marschat, Miss Hagan, and Miss Feldhusen for the valuable advice and counsel that they gave us that year. The class party was certainly a success. That year the class members donated a trophy case which was placed in the hall of the Malad High School as an everlasting reminder of the class of '29. The class still held to its high standards and participated at all times in all school activities.

As Juniors we started out with vim and vigor and so continued throughout the year. Carol Christensen was our first president, Ione Evans took over this work during the second semester. It seems that as Juniors we realized the power of women leaders. No wonder we succeeded! The class party surprised everyone. Then came the Prom. Speaking of elaborate affairs, well, we are still speaking of our Prom. The hall was artistically decorated as a flower garden. The march was something new. Everyone declared our Prom to have been the most successful ever given in Malad. The annual was recognized as the best ever put out by the Malad High School. Humbly we assert that we dislike taking so many honors, but they were thrust upon us as our just dues. Our advisors were Miss Mason and Mr. Bauer.

An exciting occurrence happened during our Junior year which we shall long remember. Chagrined Seniors were brought back to the corridors of our institution of learning, due to detective methods which out-Sherlocked Sherlock Holmes. Their senior Sneak failed utterly. Junior girls and boys hopped around as if they were crickets. They jumped out of windows, and ran down stairs; they even entered the Seniors' homes. Many of the Seniors were tied with ropes, and brought back to the high school. Juniors were exultant; Seniors, crestfallen, despondent.

Now as worthy Seniors we are about to terminate our high school career. Our number is somewhat decreased, but a livelier class has never been seen. Nettie Pierce and Homer Edwards served us loyally as presidents. Our last class party was another success, and we are still to have our commencement exercises and a Senior Ball.

We have pledged one thousand dollars as a gift to aid in the building of a gymnasium for Malad High School. Sadly and hopefully we are leaving dear old M. H. S.

WILL OF THE CLASS OF 1929

We, the Senior Class of 1929, of Malad High School, being of sound mind and memory, do make, publish, and declare this our last will and testament, in manner and form as follows:

First, to dear old M. H. S., we leave our true love and devotion. May the future students of Malad High respect and cherish the Orange and Black as we have.

Second, to the Juniors, we will our pep and enthusiasm.

Third, to the Sophomores, we will our superiority in athletics.

Fourth, to the Freshmen, we will our ability to reach the top—our "stick-to-it-iveness."

- I, Sheila Deschamps, will my slender figure to Anne Richards.
 I, Eurastus Wells, will my admiration for a certain Sophomore to no one. I'll take it with me.
 I, Millie Harris, will my love for books to Glen Rae Thomas.
 I, Royal Goodsell, will my artistic temperament to Elmer Lewis.
 I, Pearl Price, will my A's in economics to any unfortunate person who works as hard as I.
 I, Joe Jones (Red), will my success in bluffing to Virgil Jones.
 I, Lillian Williams, will my dark complexion to Vesta Hutteball.
 I, Dwight Manwaring, will my oratorical aspirations to Alice Huntsman.
 I, Erma Thomas, will my smile to Levesta Hughes.
 I, Myrtle Anderson, will my interest in Chief Sock-in-the-Wash to anyone who can find such a chief as I have.
 I, Joe Jones (Black), will my ability to find champions in a declaim contest (or not) to Vernal Josephson.
 I, Marie Palmer, will my unbounded knowledge of H<sub>2</sub>O, KClO<sub>3</sub>, etc., to Thomas Jones.
 I, Lynn Evans, will my speed in typewriting to anyone who has the nerve to tackle such a subject.
 I, Elaine Jones, will my love for school to Paul Thomas.
 I, Rex Jensen, will my "knack" at pitching baskets to Francis Blum.
 I, Eleanor Jones, will my familiarity with Cheyney to Dell Peck.
 I, Raymond Martin, will my ability as "Star Man" to Golden Jones.
 I, Elizabeth Josephson, will my golden silence to Mabel Daniels.
 I, Banchie Thomas, will my love for dancing to LaPresd Barsdell.
 I, Dave Hill, will my superior skill in wasting time to Henry Noble.
 I, Rachel Evans, will my heavenly tones to Bill Williams.
 I, Golden Ward, will my art of playing the trombone to Floyd Peterson.
 I, Arvilla Hughes, will the ornament of my third finger on my left hand to Fern Daniels.
 I, Beth Thomas, will my well-worn chemistry apron to Jedd Jones.
 I, Evelyn Reese, will my peculiar Roman accent to Kathryn Palmer.
 I, Jink Williams, will my attraction to Juniors to George L. Anderson.
 I, Viola Morgan, will my shyness to Anita Soremen.
 I, Ruth Thomas, will my smile and pleasing personality to anyone who can find as much to be happy about as can I.
 I, Frank Sawyer, will my morchant attitude to James Manory.
 I, Homer Edwards, will my curly hair and one bottle of Stay-Crem to Ray Hess.

- I, Luzelle Sorensen, will my attractive smile to Pearl Kent.
 I, Warren Edwards, will my happiness in marriage to Herman Davis.
 I, Nettie Pierce, will my naive manner to Mae Evans.
 I, Elmer Hall, will my ability to make "whoopee" to Jayne Jones.
 I, Russel South, will my conscientiousness and my ability to "boss the job" to Ralph Jensen.
 I, Ladore Evans, will my admiration for ex-students of M. H. S. to no one. 'Tis mine alone.
 I, Hilda Hutteball, will my success in love and war to Edna Upsworth.
 I, Burton Hanson, will my crowning glory to Harold Jones.
 I, Edith Vanderwood, will my curly black locks to Mabel Jones.
 I, Dave Bolingbroke, will my familiarity with South Main Street to anyone who has such a center of attraction as I.
 I, Ione Evans, will my executive ability to Percy Hall.
 I, Jack Williams, will my love for life and the world in general to all the down-trodden students of M. H. S.
 I, Mildred Hall, will my sunny disposition and loveable character to whoever can make the world brighter thereby.
 I, Carol Christensen, will my extraordinary extensive vocabulary to Orlene Daniels.
 I, Edna Fredrickson, will my sweet and musical voice to Aseuth Covert.
 I, Laurel Jones, will my declamatory talent to Norma Williams.
 I, Walter Kohler, will my Japanese characteristics to Virginia Garst.

Commentaries—Not Caesar's

Junior Class History

DIVISIONS

Chapter I

All High Schools are divided into four parts, the first of which is inhabited by the Freshmen, the second by the Sophomores, the third by the Juniors and the fourth by the Seniors, who, in language of their own, are Graduates. All these differ in ingenuity, number, and learning.

DESCRIPTIONS

Chapter II

Of them all, the Juniors are the noblest. Because of their generosity and good sportsmanship, they cultivate friendship with the other tribes. And being nearest to the Seniors, who dwell just across the Hall, they are more friendly with them. When called upon to have conference with the other tribes they always prevail because of their valor and loyalty to class and school.

CHOICE OF OFFICIALS AND MOTTO

Chapter III

Since the tribe was in need of powerful leaders, they selected as their chief for the first semester Henry Noble and for the second semester Betty King. Their advisors were the worthy Monte Willardson, Donna Schneller, and Leta Edington. Then a conference having been called by the chief they selected their motto, "Work conquers everything."

AMBITION SIEZES THEM

Chapter IV

All was peaceful for a while. Then one day the tribe had a conference "inter se" and decided to publish a year book. Darkness seemed to cover everything; the future of our annual stood on the razor's edge. A message having been sent us from Salt Lake, we found a printed annual not an impossibility and our quota to the "gym fund" assured. Again, peace and quiet settled upon our hearts.

ANOTHER VICTORY

Chapter V

Having successfully accomplished one task, the Juniors set out to conquer another. The Prom was "the Social Event" of the year. So, during those days immediately following the Isles of March, they made their attack, carried away a large amount of plunder, and distributed it among their creditors.

FINIS

Chapter VI

When the sand falls low in the hour glass the tribe of the Juniors will have traversed through many swampy places and will have vaulted over high walls, but in the end they will have found the beautiful "Open Sesame" of the temple of learning. They will have found it by constantly keeping in mind their motto, "Work conquers everything" and to the ever waiting will be granted a certificate of graduation from M. H. S.

JUNIOR CLASS PROPHECY

On a certain spring day in 1919 a feeling of homesickness overwhelmed me. Immediately I locked the door of my law office in Albuquerque, New Mexico, and sped northward to visit the scenes of my youth.

After kauntering for some time along the streets of Malad City, I noticed a poster. Its color scheme was startling, its message thrilling. Lined irresistibly, I made reservations for a journey via the Idaho Rapid Transit Co. with Orm Jones as pilot, and Paul Camp as mechanic.

Sailing rather low over Salt Lake City, we heard a familiar voice calling. "Take the yellow cab, fourteen blocks for fifty cents." I recognized Jedd Jones in the garb of a taxi driver.

As we sped over the Arizona plains, I saw a little house near which numberless children were at play while the contented mother and father looked on. The elder people of the group were Kathryn Palmer and Franklin Smith. In Houston, Texas we landed for repairs. Here we found Fern Daniels running an elevator for Sears, Roebuck and Company. We continued our journey, and nearing the coast of Florida, we could see objects hopping through the swamps, carrying lanterns and nets. At first we thought we had come upon the ghosts of Ponce de Leon's party. Upon closer observation, we discovered Vernal Josephson and Edna Unsworth collecting moths for the Malad High School Museum. They informed us that they were paid at the rate of ten cents per dozen. Lowell Thomas and Dell Pack were guarding several hundred ostriches in the everglades.

On a little island in mid-ocean we noticed Ray Hess, Ray Deschamps, and Herman Davis dancing. They had been captured by the natives and were being held for ransom.

In England, we learned that Glenn Williams was chief of the Royal Household, and that Meda Jones, also a British subject, was reaping a fortune making and selling mustard plasters.

We found Elmer Lewis and Wilhelmina Warner keeping a beauty parlor in Japan, and Glen Rae and Anita Sornson teaching the Chinese the message to Garcia. Glen Rae and Anita were assisted in their educational undertaking by Eddis Jones.

Entering San Francisco Harbor, we were commanded by Waldo Richards to "Present arms." Waldo is now a guard at the Golden Gate. He handed us a San Francisco Examiner and we were horrified to read that Orpha Harris, Phobe Jones, Afton Hadfield, and Sylvia Swartz, four inquisitive young Americans, had just been drowned in Nicaragua Canal.

When we at last reached Malad City, again, I read in the Enterprise that Gladys Williams and Florence Hanson have become fabulously wealthy. They are selling overhauled Fords to the natives of the upper class in Africa.

Oh, well. "Time is the stuff that dreams are made of." Perchance, at some other time—another chapter. Now I am weary.

—VIRGIL JONES

ATHLETICS

FOOTBALL 1928-29

Coach Rock issued the call for football men during the second week of the school year, 1928-1929. His call was answered by twenty-five enthusiastic young fellows. Suits were issued and hard training began. Nearly all last year's men were back and the coach's aim was for championship.

Our team was smaller than any team we played, but the speed, fight, sportsmanship, and clean playing of our players excelled.

This year's schedule was longer than the schedule of any year just preceding. The team enjoyed a seven game schedule: three trips and four games at home. We succeeded in winning three games and in tying one. We lost three games.

The entire student body turned out for the Aberdeen game. The plunging backfield of Aberdeen threatened to score at times, but student body backing spurred the players on to victory.

Not only do we desire to give credit for our record to Coach Rock's excellent supervision and good training, but also to the enthusiastic and peppy students of M. H. S.

BASKETBALL SEASON

The basketball season of 1928-29 opened shortly after the holidays. Seven letter men besides an equal number of unlettered men reported for practice. The first game was played with the team of Bear River High School at Bear River. This was a very exciting game, but, because of the loss of our main forward, we were defeated with a score of 20-24. This discouraged the team but after a week of ardent practice we defeated Downey on their home court. We held the lead throughout a fast and thrilling game. The next week, after a hard day of pushing automobiles through the snow, Malad won a decisive victory over Arimo. Malad then played Weston, but was defeated with a score of 17-19. The week before the subdistrict tournament, Malad defeated McCammon and also Weber High of Ogden. Weber High had a very strong team but because of the determination of our boys, their excellent coaching and the cheering given to the Malad team, our men were able to win.

On the 14-15-16 of February the Subdistrict Tournament was held at Downey. Here the M. H. S. team made a wonderful showing by winning every game played. Some of the credit for this victory must be given to the members of the student body, who supported the team with enthusiastic yells. Due credit must also be given to the M. H. S. band for the lively and inspirational music.

On Wednesday of the week following the tournament, our basketball players took strenuous exercise in order to be physically fit to enter the District of Southern Idaho Tournament at Pocatello. The trip to this city was made by automobile but much to our disappointment we had to go around by the way of Sardine Canyon.

At the District Tournament at Pocatello, our team took third place. The teams defeating our boys were American Falls and Moreland. Winners of the Tournament were Pocatello and Moreland. The Pocatello team received first honors and later went to Moscow. Here they also won the state championship.

The team of the M. H. S. was fast but very small and because of this they were defeated at Pocatello. The members of the team of '28-29 are: Elmer Hall, center; Jack Williams and Rex Jensen, forwards; Wesley Williams and Faye Evans, guards. The men of our team have been playing together four years and have improved exceedingly by practice under Coach Rock's sympathetic and efficient direction.

Of the eighteen games played, the team witnessed only four defeats.

All the members of the first team are Seniors, but the second team will keep up the fight next year.

True Account of Such Occurrences and Accidents of Note as Have Happened in Downey

For many weeks the students of the Malad High School had been looking forward to the Subdistrict Tournament which was to be held in Downey on February 14, 15, and 16. All resolved that they would attend, but there was a great problem ahead. How were they going to go? The roads were bad and crossing the divide seemed almost too hazardous; nevertheless, almost everyone was willing to take a chance.

All those who could go went in private cars. Every private car was filled. The rest of the students who wanted to go went in trucks and buses.

At ten o'clock Thursday morning almost everyone was there to see the first game. The members of the Boostery Club were there and led Malad students in enthusiastic cheering.

The band was given a special invitation to furnish the music for all the games and of course, their best playing was done for Malad. The music given Malad won. The band's best playing was given Malad. Many business men from Malad attended and it seemed that these men were as interested as the students themselves.

Malad was scheduled to play at ten o'clock and at three o'clock each of the three days. Malad's first game was on Thursday morning and was played with Downey. The game had been looked forward to as the hardest game because Downey would be on her home floor nevertheless, the boys went into the fight with high hopes and much courage. This was due to encouragement by Coach Rank and to the familiar faces and voices in the side lines. At first Downey was ahead. Never was there shown such enthusiasm in yelling by Malad High School. That was all that was remaining. The boys were sure that the student body was behind them, and they fought with all their strength. At the end of the first half Malad was one point ahead. The game ended with the score twenty-two to twenty-four in favor of Malad.

After the morning games everyone went to dinner, and such a dinner as most of us had. They were only two lunch counters to go to and both were crowded in their utmost. The waitresses were patient, serene, and not accustomed to such crowds. This made the service very good. But this was overlooked in the thought of the next game.

Malad's second game was with Lava. The Lava team was speedy and alert, but was not quite a match for Malad. The game ended with a score of fifteen to nineteen in favor of Malad. During the game, all people except those from Malad, were cheering for Lava, but Malad was behind her team and that helped her team decidedly.

Thursday night after the games a big dance was given for the visitors in Downey. It seemed that Malad people were the only ones who cared to dance for they had the floor almost to themselves. After the dance, many Malad people came home. A few who didn't have a way to come home and who were not able to find rooms in private homes had to stay in the lobby of the hotel. But just the same, everyone was ready for the game on Friday morning.

The first game played on Friday was with Weston. This high school had a good team and had defeated Malad on the Wednesday in a practice game; however, Malad was determined to win. Until the last quarter, Weston was ahead and things looked rather black for the Malad team, but Malad students hadn't lost faith in their team, and they cheered their players on to victory. The game ended with a score of twenty-two to twenty-seven. Malad had won the game.

Malad played McCannan Friday afternoon in a fast and close game. During the game one of McCannan's men was injured but he was able to come back on the floor and finish the game. The final score was fifteen to thirteen in favor of Malad.

On Saturday morning the first game was played between Malad and Arimo. Malad won a very nice victory with a resulting score of twenty-one to thirty-five. Friday afternoon Malad played a last game with Hazelton. By the end of the first quarter, it was apparent that Hazelton was not much for the first team as the second team was put in to finish the game. The game resulted in the worst defeat of the tournament, the score being six to thirty-five in favor of Malad.

Malad students are proud of the final result in points of the tournament. Of the total number of points, two hundred and fifty-three, Malad won one hundred and forty-eight. Opposing teams total score was one hundred and five. As individuals, the following points were made by the members of the Malad team: Tex Jensen, 61; Elmer Hall, 57; Jack Williams, 20; Fritz Evans, 18; Wesley Williams, 8; Francis Olson, 8; and Ralph Jensen, 4. Malad returned from Downey with the highest honors given in the tournament. Downey was second, and Weston third. We are proud of our team because of their clean playing and good sportsmanship, and also because they carried off first honors at the Subdistrict Tournament.

HIGH SCHOOL OPERETTA

The high school operetta, "Miss Cherry Blossom," proved to be one of the outstanding events of the spring season of 1929. It was presented at the Star Theatre, April 11 and 12, and has been acclaimed a great success, since the characters and choruses were so well trained in acting and singing.

The operetta featured many interesting and peculiar customs of the Japanese, and blended old Japan with modern America.

The boys' and girls' American chorus included: Erastus Wells, Billie Jones, Maroni Ward, Jack Williams, Wesley Williams, Ralph Jensen, Raymond Martin, Marion Jones, Vance Bigler, Earl Thomas, Golden Ward, Golden Jones, Fred Manwaring, Lloyd Davis, Lamar Bennett, William Ward, Morgan Tovey, and Elmer Lewis; Blanche Thomas, Luzelle Sorensen, Margaret Garst, Carol Christensen, Eleanor Mandry, Mary Williams, Ann Morgan, Mabel Jones, and Kathryn Palmer.

The Geisha Girls of Old Japan were: Asenath Covert, Mary W. Thomas, Ladore Evans, Gayle Evans, Elvina Peterson, Isobell Harrison, Annabel Ashton, Aline Josephson, Olive Hall, Margaret Pilgrim, Fern Daniels, Mattie Palmer, Gerrie Morgan, Arvilla Hughes, Mary D. Thomas, Jane Jones, Leah Blaisdell, Eloise Woodland, Ruth Davis, Verda Sorensen, Barbara Sorensen, Annis Jones, Pearl Price, and Lucile Evans.

The participants were all adapted to their parts and put forth every effort to make the operetta a success.

THE CHRISTMAS CANTATA

The Glee Clubs with their presentation of the Christmas cantata, "The Risen Christ," were the first organization of the music department to contribute to the gym fund.

The cantata was given at the First Ward Tabernacle under the able direction of Miss Phyllis Palmer. The story was first read by Evelyn Reese; then, followed a series of beautiful solos, harmonious duets, and choruses. The leading soloists were LaDore Evans, Ione Evans, Re Morgan, Elvira Peterson, Fern Daniels, and Kathryn Palmer.

The cantata aside from being educational, was very beautiful. In their robes, the singers resembled angels and, under the glow of colored lights, produced artistic tableaux.

In addition to this, an interesting program was rendered. The M. H. S. band played two selections expressive of the spirit of Christmas.

BAND

More interest has been shown this year in the band than ever before; for instance, the band has practically doubled its members. It now has about forty members. Mr. Armont Willardson, the new band instructor, is largely responsible for the large increase in number and interest.

This year the band has played for all school activities including the basketball and football games played in Malad. During the Downey Tournament the Malad Band played at different intervals of the game. It not only relieved the monotony of the games but aided the Malad team considerably in winning all its games. Later the band played in the Malad Eagle's Basketball Tournament. They played at the Republican and Democratic rallies and earned forty dollars.

During his first year in Malad, Mr. Willardson has devoted both time and effort to the organization and instruction of the M. H. S. Band. Next year if Mr. Willardson returns, the orchestra will be organized and the band will require little attention.

On April 27, 1929, the band takes part in a contest with other bands of Southern Idaho. Mr. Willardson and his band are working zealously on the contest numbers to be played in Pocatello at that time. During the month of April each member will practice one hour each day not including the time spent in band practice. Mr. Willardson believes this practice necessary. Although this will be the band's first entry in any contest, excellent results are expected, and we hope to accomplish much more next year.

—GLEN WILLIAMS

DRAMA

DRAMATICS

"All the world is a stage," but as Pat in "The Patsy" says, "Most of us are only stage-hands." The students of the Dramatic Club and of the oral expression department, however, have attained the distinction of being called actors and actresses. They have derived a great deal of pleasure and much benefit from their dramatic work. Miss Baker has proved an efficient instructor and has won the admiration and respect of her students.

The all-school play, "White Collars," one of the season's greatest triumphs, was given in the Star Theatre, December 7, before an exceptionally appreciative audience. The members of the cast were complimented on the zest and feeling with which they played their parts. Many of the town's most able critics proclaimed it the best high school play ever produced in Malad.

On December 8, the play was given for the second time in the auditorium of the Bear River High School.

The Senior play, "Take My Advice," given on May 17, was a credit to Malad High. Though the entire cast was made up of students inexperienced in any form of dramatics, critics agree that this play was exceptionally well given.

DECLAMATION

The first and second divisions of the local declamatory contest were held in the State Tabernacle and in the First Ward Recreation Hall, respectively.

Contestants who received first places in the local contests were eligible to enter the District Tryouts at Preston. Those representing Malad brought home honors to their high school:

CITY GOVERNMENT

1928-29 FIRST SEMESTER CITY GOVERNMENT

The beginning seems to be the worst part in every undertaking. So it seemed in regard to political affairs at the beginning of this school year. Everything was in a state of chaos, for the students of our high school could not carry on school affairs without governmental diplomats. To overcome these difficulties the city government officers of the year preceding took up the work. Due to the graduation of our former mayor, Ione Evans was appointed mayor pro-temp.

The two political parties finally did heed duty's call and elected new officials. A period of political calm ensued for everyone seemed to favor the P. G. L. Party, yet no one had any reason for doing so. Everyone just drifted with the current leaving the direction of the G. G. Party to a few conservative supporters, who undertook the task of defeating the P. G. L.'s. Although the future did seem gloomy for the G. G.'s, they organized and put up their candidates.

Oh, day of bliss, for the G. G. candidates. Their party won decisively. Everyone else seemed satisfied with conditions and Mayor Dave Bolingbroke ruled as Monroe did in the Era of Good Feeling for everyone agreed with his policies. Of course he found a good helper in Don Castleton, who was appointed chief of police. With the aid of a well-organized and experienced council, the mayor enforced the laws in a most effective manner. Every action of the judicial system seemed to indicate a desire for more strict enforcement of the laws and for the correct interpretation of the constitution. The legislative body, planning and saving as much as possible, used the city funds to good advantage.

Because of her initiative and strategy, Mrs. Brown aided in making the city government more efficient. She has surely been faithful in regard to school politics and city government affairs. Mr. L. A. Thomas also cooperated in the work of making law enforcement more effective. The students certainly appreciate the work of these two faculty members in regard to our city government.

—HENRY NORTON

OUR SECOND SEMESTER CITY GOVERNMENT

The second semester began with a bang in regard to politics. One political party was organized under the name of Red Peppers; another as the Constitutional Reformers. Both parties worked hard in making new platforms which expressed new ideas and attractive planks. Each party pledged itself to regain, if possible, high school dances and parties. Petitions were circulated among the students and approved by school board members.

After party platforms were written out, advisory periods and part of the assembly periods were given over to campaign speeches made by the most prominent party orators. How the Red Peppers did plead for better city government organization and pep in all school activities and functions. The Constitutional Reformers did equally as well in expressing their opinions that the old constitution was inadequate to meet present school conditions. The two candidates for mayor gave the final appeals and last addresses before the students on Friday of Election day. These addresses made one wish he could support both parties. The election was held during the last period of the day in question. Everything went well at the polls except that a number of freshmen wrote their names on the ballots.

The Red Peppers had the requisite amount of pep and won out by electing every candidate on their ticket. The battle was hard fought for in several cases there was only a margin of one or two votes between candidates. As mayor, Russel South was elected; as treasurer, Ella Covert; and Francis Illum became our new recorder. An entire line-up of judicial and legislative officers entered upon their duties.

The Red Peppers are to be commended for their excellent work. Law and order now reign supreme and the morale of our student body is splendid.

SOCIETY

Society with plenty of vim has been the spice of school life this year. The social functions which have been carried out have been inspirational to every student. The school faculty has taken the lead in proposing and carrying to completion several social events of the year. A more highly commendable school spirit has been developed by the many interesting parties and dances of the school year.

EVENTS OF THE SOCIAL SEASON

SEPTEMBER

- 15--Saturday and registration. What subjects????
17--Whoopee! Another year of school opens with a boom. The poor Frosh needs sympathy and support.
30--The students are permanently settled. We begin to realize what hard work really is.

OCTOBER

- 12--Opening "get-acquainted" dance. We make the Freshmen feel at "home."

NOVEMBER

- 9--We are entertained by the Kensington Club. Mrs. Jedd Jones, J. presides.
21--Another assembly program is furnished by the Civic Betterment Club.
9--The Senior party is a wow! Miss Gemholz and Mr. McHose give us the latest interpretation of "doit' the New Racoon," as a penalty for violation of the traffic laws of the dance.
23--Are the Frosh as green as they appear to be? Their party proves that they are capable of doing great things.
24--First Lyceum number of the season. Frye and Co.
28--Ag. "Bawl." Despair!! Parties taken from us. That's what comes from making whoopee.
30--Lions Club provides assembly program.

DECEMBER

- 7--Success to the actors and actresses. The M. H. S. presents "White Collars," the best play the high school has witnessed for years.

20—"The Arrival of Kitty" is presented by the honorable faculty members. Who could play the part of "Kitty" better than Mr. Anderson? Laugh—?—and how!

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Chemistry, physics, biology, and general science are the subjects now taught in the science department of the Malad High School. We now have fully equipped laboratories in which we can perform practical experiments.

There are now forty students enrolled in chemistry classes. Twice a week double periods are devoted to laboratory work in chemistry. One period on each of the other three days is devoted to lectures, recitations, chemistry.

Louise Gerntholz is our instructor in physics. Physics classes are conducted on the same plan as that of the chemistry classes. There are twenty students taking physics this year.

There are fifty students enrolled in biology. This subject is taught by Mr. Willardson and Miss Gerntholz. Biology students also have laboratory work.

General science is the only science which freshmen are permitted to take. Mrs. Jenny B. Brown and Miss Lillian Imrie are the instructors in this work. There are sixty students in the general science classes.

THE COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Students of the commercial department, with Miss Velma Morgan as instructor, are doing exceedingly good work. Typewriting I and II, Shorthand I and II, and Bookkeeping are included in the commercial courses.

There are fifty-two students in the first year classes of typewriting and fifteen in the second year class. Royal, Underwood and Remington machines, twenty in all, are used in this department. Several medals have been awarded to students by the manufacturers of these typewriters.

Shorthand I has become a popular study and this year there is a class of twenty-eight students. Shorthand II at present is taught to only four students, but it is probable that there will be a large class next year.

The bookkeeping class is composed of twenty-six students and it is conducted in two separate divisions.

Without the commercial department has proved itself to be an advantage as well as a necessity to our school.

THE AG. DEPARTMENT

The work and improvement in our Ag. Department during the past year has been very remarkable. Vocational work has been established in our school only four years and this department is already one of the largest in the school. Before the organization of an Ag. Department, a few students who were interested in agriculture were taught by the instructor in science. Today we have seventy students in the Ag. Department and we are proud that we have the largest Ag. Department of all the high schools in the state of Idaho. Animal husbandry, farm shop, and farm crops are the subjects taught.

Recently there has been organized a nation-wide Ag. Club called "The Future Farmers of America." All boys taking agriculture and paying the required fees are eligible for membership.

At the seed judging contest at Blackfoot last fall our boys carried off more than their share of the honors. Paul Camp won the silver medal for seed judging. For merit in different fields honors were also bestowed upon John South, Russel South, Lamar Henderson, and Oren Jones.

This year's winner of the scholarship donated by the U. P. Railroad is Henry Noble. The scholarship entitles him to free passage on the train to Moscow and pays his entrance fees to the U. of I. This honor is certainly worth while and Henry is to be congratulated on his success.

The rapid advancement of our Ag. Department has attracted state-wide attention, and our instructor, Mr. Bauer, has been offered a more attractive position as teacher in the Boise High School. Although we are sorry to lose Mr. Bauer, we are happy over his promotion.

We are justly proud of our Ag. Class and sincerely hope that it will continue to grow and improve in the future as it has in the past.

THE HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

Of special interest is the home economics work which is conducted in the Malad High School. This work consists of courses in food and clothing.

There are forty girls in the elementary clothing class, twenty-four in the advanced class. Much has been accomplished this year. All of the girls contributed articles which were sold at a bazaar which was held shortly before Christmas. Until the holidays the classes were successfully directed by Stella Bartlett. Miss Bartlett was succeeded by Miss Innie, a very efficient instructor.

In the foods department, courses are given in first year cooking and in related science. Twenty-six girls are enrolled. The work in this department is interesting and beneficial. The present instructor in this work is Miss Helen Hunter, a graduate of Moscow. Miss Hunter also has charge of the related art classes. This work is considered a part of the clothing work.

The foods and clothing departments are conducted under the Smith-Hughes plan. Home projects are a special feature. The Malad High School Home Economics department is the largest in the state of Idaho and is one of the best equipped.

In 1928 for the first time in the history of the Malad High School, a Home Economics Club was organized with Mildred Hall, Edna Fredrickson, and Wilhelmina Warner as its officers, and with a membership of about forty girls.

The home economics department did its share in making Girls' Day a successful and enjoyable one. The exhibition and style show were interesting. The department has gained its place in the heart of the Malad High School.

MR. THOMAS
Master of Our Souls and Captain of Our Fate

in the valley of Oneida
On the campus of Malad High
Stands a high and stately structure,
Stands a monument of greatness,
'Tis of brick and mortar builded
And of stone and laths and plaster
And of wood and glass and paper,
In its doorway stands a figure,
Stands a strong imposing figure,
Stands a man of words and wisdom,
Superintendent L. A. Thomas
Just below him wait we students,
And we wait in solemn stillness,
Wait in silent expectation
Hush—the mighty voice is speaking:
"Oh, you students of Malad High,
I have called you all together
For the purpose of a meeting
There are some among your numbers
Who insist on playing hooky,
And I must dispel that practice
So, to punish you severely,
You shall memorize a message
Fedious and long the message
'Tis the Message to Garcia,
Through our multitude of students
Went a sound, a cry of horror,
Went a murmur of resistance,
But we answered—speaking humbly,
"We submit, O Mr. Thomas,
Thy will is ours, O Superintendent."

Thus we students of Malad High
He has moulded to perfection,
Made us models of obedience,
Shining stars of truth and greatness
And henceforward and forever,
Livermore and, yes, eternal
Ours shall be the path of goodness
Straight and narrow—not a detour,
And in angelic sweetness,
Tones of sugary, syrupy sweetness
We shall sing to him this ballad
"Fare-thee-well, O Mr. Thomas,
Thanks a lot for the diploma,
Please forgive but don't forget us
Remember all the dear departed."

Russel South (Mayor) was arrested and brought to court for the first time. He was, however, unarrested, and wore an air of a man determined not to get the worst of it.

"Prisoner," said the clerk, "do you wish to challenge any of the jury?"
Russel looked the jury over carefully and said, "I'm not exactly in training."

A CAMPUS FRIEND

On the M. H. S. campus is a friend that is most interesting to me. It has been a trusted listener to Jean's telling Mary of what Tom said, and what he didn't say. It has looked on, sorrowful, as Ted showed his exam paper marked with an "F," to John.

When spring days came, the noon hours found giddy Freshmen seated on its well-worn surface, discussing the best tactics for playing marbles. This object has been treated as an old friend by Sophomores, as they teased and told jokes about the inferior Frosh. It has given a sympathetic ear to Juniors as they unraveled their snary plans for the Junior Proms, and it has been overcome with pride when dignified Seniors have sat on its shiny surface, discussing whether or not a diploma is really worth four years of ambitious effort. This trusted old friend and staid shock absorber is—the "M" bench.

BLACK MAGIC

Father (reading school report): Conduct bad, reading bad, composition history, geometry bad-bad-bad! What is the meaning of this, Joe?

Joe Leigh: I don't understand it, Dad, do you think it might be foretry?

Pug: Have you heard of my last discovery?

Paul: No, what is it?

Pug: I've found how to tell the number of pieces of macaroni on a plate.

Paul: How?

Pug: Why add up the ends and divide by two.

Miss Hunter: Was yer old man in comfortable circumstances when he died?

Mrs. Brown: No, he was half way under a train.

INSTANTLY FATAL

Mr. Willardson (in Chemistry): "Name a poisonous substance."

Eddis: "Aviation."

Mr. Willardson: "Explain yourself."

Eddis: "One drop will kill."

A GOOD REASON

A young woman, radical on patriotism happened to see a young man milking one evening, during her daily walk into the country. She asked him angrily: "Young man, why aren't you at the front?"

The young man replied politely, "Milkin's at this end, ma'am."

A MIRACULOUS CLEANER

Lady of the House: "Will that cleaning fluid really make things very clean?"

Salesman: "Say, lady, I rubbed some of it on a copy of Smutty Stories and it turned into the Ladies' Home Journal."

NO CATS, NO STRINGS

Meda Jones, who was both musically inclined and religiously inclined raised her hand in seminary and asked Mr. Lawrence if cats went to Heaven.

Mr. L.: "I don't believe they do."

Meda: "Then where do the angels get their jump strings?"

TOO LATE

He hung on the words of beautiful Kate,
And also hung on the old front gate.
They've been weed now, ten years, I'd state,
And he wishes he'd hung on the old front gate.
