IDAHO.
S. C. Poage and family, of San Luis Obispo, passed through town Tuesday, en route to Idaho. In response to a question as to how the crops looked down south, he said they had absolutely nothing south of Merced river, and that the crops gradually grew better from there on north.
But emigrants make a mistake when they go to Idaho for agricultural lands. Of course there is good land in Idaho, but most of it is taken up, and what little is left, for the most part, is fenced with such difficulties as would make its occupation unpleasant and unprofitable.
The little land is exceedingly mountainous and rocky. The low lands are marshy and heavily swarmed with mosquitoes. No one who has not been to Idaho can form any idea of what the mosquito is in its native lair. The air is black with them. They are in clouds on the low lands, and a man could no more ride through there without a mosquito bar over his head, and buckskin gloves on, than he could ride through a swarm of bees. The cattle are living skeletons in these mosquito districts. There is also a small black fly, or gnat, that is very troublesome. The weather is exceedingly good for the most part, very warm in summer. Idaho possesses, however, some of the most beautiful scenery in the world, especially in the Snake region. Lake Coeur d'Alene surpasses all the Switzerland scenery, as pictured upon canvas and in books, that I have ever been out to look upon.
But why will emigrants go through the best country in the world to a common or inferior one? We never understand it. They will leave, perhaps, some dry section in the southern portion of the state, where everything runs against him as there on it, where the hills are bare and rocky, and the valleys sandy and hot. Well, they'll go south. Crops get better as they advance on their journey west, and the hills are more fertile. The outlook at this point will suit them, probably, but the land, of course, is taken up by others. So they travel on and on till they get up in the mountains, where the cool air and shade of necessary refresh them.
Soon they begin to descend into the valleys, and the hills are more fertile. The beautiful white farm houses in the valley fields, half hid away in the waving folds of grain, the green trees and running water, they exclaim in chorus: "This is God's country! What must it be further north!"
"This is a pretty good country, but I started for the Dallas. Pass through a heavily timbered country. "Too much timber," they say, "couldn't clear it out in a lifetime." Go on a little further and find a country which is partly wooded and partly open; plenty of water; plenty of bunch grass; plenty of fish; plenty of everything. "Well, this is a pretty good country, but I started for Idaho, and by George I'm going to Idaho. I never could be satisfied, now that I got this far!"
So they go on, and soon get into an open country, south of Wells, Walla. Pretty good crops, but there is hardly a river in sight, wells a hundred feet deep, and the weather warm. They go on to Idaho, and settle down in some little valley "forty miles from 2000 where."
Winter comes on, and if they are short of provisions, short of fuel for their stoves, short of everything. It snows, it rains, it hails, it blows, and they have a hard time of it. And the emigrant says to his wife, "Sarie, I'll be glad if I wouldn't rather live in San Luis Obispo, than in this here place!" "So would I, John, let's go back!"—Stanslans (Cal.)
The most of the above is all but true. Emigrants do not make a mistake when they come to Idaho for agricultural lands, but, on the other hand, they can do decidedly better than they can in any part of Southern California, unless it would be within a radius of a few miles of Los Angeles, and can do as well here as in any part of California or Oregon, including Willamette Valley, of which such a fine picture is drawn.
Of course there is good land in Idaho, but most of it is all taken up, and the Wheat Grower. We are obliged to state that the above quotation is a label for the thousands of acres of good agricultural lands in Idaho, which only awaits the advent of the emigrant to make it look as fine as any farm in California or any of the Eastern States, and what is more the emigrants are beginning to find it out and are coming into the Territory by the score, and very few that come to Idaho to settle ever emigrate again.

"The weather is exceedingly cold in winter, and, for the most part, very warm in summer," is another false statement of the Wheat Grower. The winter in Idaho, except in the extreme north, is exceedingly mild, and snow is seldom over a foot deep in the valleys, on the level. The summer is generally all that a person could wish. The nights are cool and pleasant, and anyone would feel very uncomfortable who should attempt to sleep in Idaho without a covering of at least one heavy blanket. The days are warm, but it is seldom the thermometer records over 76 degrees. And as the scenery, Idaho surpasses any place in the Western country. Soda Springs, in this county, (which is already famous as a health resort) and Bear Lake in Bear Lake county, will repay the tourist who visits them a hundred fold, and there are hundreds of places in Idaho which would please and interest all who study nature.
Idaho does not want any emigrants like those described in the Wheat Grower. Emigrants that would pass through a picture like that painted in the above article, could never be satisfied. But we have been through considerable California and Oregon, and so such picture ever in our eyes. We must have crossed Willamette Valley while the picture was away, or else we failed to see it, as the editor of the Wheat Grower says it.
When the editor of the Wheat Grower ran into the mosquito in Idaho, we know not of. We think he had Idaho and Florida mixed in his mind's eye when he struck the mosquito question. "He says the cattle are living skeletons in these mosquito districts." We do not of the mosquito, but we do know that the cattle and all other live stock raised in Idaho will compare favorably with stock raised in any other section of the United States, and in a great many cases they are superior to those raised in other large stock raising districts throughout the Union.
If Mr. S. C. Poage could see this way we guarantee that he will receive a warm welcome upon his arrival, and he will be able to find plenty of good agricultural land in Idaho to settle upon.

Not a Candidate.
MALAD, August 13th, 1882.
EDITOR ENTERPRISE—Please announce that Mr. Frederick Bodan will not permit his name to go before the Democratic Convention as a candidate for Delegate to Congress, for the reason that his duties at Berger's—putting wood and cleaning the stables—are such that he cannot possibly spare any time to make the canvass.

Matrimonial.
Mrs. M. A. Triplett would like to correspond with a well-to-do gentleman between the ages of 21 and 30 years, with a view to matrimony. Can teach music, and is capable of attending to the necessary duties of a housekeeper. Age, 18 years; weight, 125 pounds. Address, Cleveland, Tenn., Box 76.

Quarantine.
Quarantine was invented in Venice in the year 1197, all merchants and others from the Levant or eastern ports being obliged to remain in the House of St. Lazarus or the Lazzaretto forty days before they were allowed to enter the city. Various southern states copied the example of Venice; the habit was soon spread in every European country, and was introduced by the Venetians into Syria and Egypt.

FEEL.
The Enterprise is opposed to pie as it believes they are the cause of more disorders to the human race than any other article of food. Take a pie for instance made of two parts of rag ends of dirty beef or a filthy hog, part of heavy dough and one part of raisins, etc., commonly called mince-pie, and the machinery of a man's stomach that is able to get-away with a cut of it in first-class order is good and strong enough to be a creature for a quart mile. The fact is, a man is in ripe condition to eat his mince-pie, or do some exceedingly disgusting deed, after having partaken of a lunch of almost any kind of pie. By a careful analysis of the statistics of our prisons, we are sure that the great primary cause of crime can be laid at the door of pie eating, and that the cause of insanity is attributable solely to the quantity and quality of pies manufactured by our race. Who ever heard of a Hottentot lady or gentleman eating a mince or lemon pie, and who knows of an insane Hottentot, or that a Hottentot was ever indicted by a grand jury for stealing dumplings or other truck from a huckster's wagon? Who ever heard of a Fuzja J. Landier making up his missionary hash into mince pie, or working over their woodcock's eggs into custard pie? No, pie came into the world with sin, and they are keeping a full length ahead of their old friend in their combined effort to destroy the human race. Strong drink is a curse to the human race; tobacco is a destroyer of happiness; opium is a lane to life; but pie combine the most seductive and destroying properties of all these, and the society for the preservation of life and happiness to mankind should ever for the grand and glorious work of reform, in prohibiting the making and eating of all things called pie.

Something New in Consumption.
The Reno Journal tells of the case of A. H. Barnes, of that city, who fights of consumption by wearing a silver tube, which passes between the ribs into the lungs. In 1849, Mr. Barnes, then living in Syracuse, DeKalb county, Illinois, was declared an incurable consumptive. The lung was tapped and he recovered. In 1863 he was again taken down with the disease, when he once more resorted to the tube, and has worn it constantly ever since. There is a daily discharge of matter. Mr. Barnes is a man of very regular and temperate habits. Does not use tobacco in any form, nor stimulants of any kind, hardly ever uses any medicine, excepting sometimes a little iron for the blood; is always feeling well when the hole in his side is open, sometimes feeling a heaviness there, but has got used to that. This case is certainly worth the special attention of medical men. It seemed to give a man a new lease of life, even when, apparently as good as dead. When Mr. Barnes conceived the idea of tapping his lung, all the physicians but one counted it as a thing that would prove fatal. However, he persuaded one to perform the operation. In 1863 Mr. Barnes was in Honey Lake valley, and was on the brink of the grave. Now, again, the resident physicians were opposed to the idea of incision, and after repeated appeals for an operation, which was refused, Mr. Barnes borrowed a lance and cut open his side himself. He then inserted a catheter, and drawing off nearly a quart of matter, immediately felt relief was found. The cough and expectoration stopped almost instantly, and Mr. Barnes was soon upon his feet again. Thus he has prolonged his life for over thirty years.

It is a mistake to think, however, a political orator. It is a mistake to see, an old farmer comes to town loaded with new wheat, as he goes home loaded with old rye.

THE CONVENTION.

The Republican Convention, held at Malad on the evening of the 14th inst., was a very pleasant and fraternal gathering...

We are truly sorry that all parties in the county have not as kindly disposed toward harmony as were those present in spirit and person at Malad...

There should be no sectionalism or jealousy manifested by the Republicans of one part of the county as against those of another...

It is regretted that the other so-called gathering, engineered by a bohemian and adventurer, have nothing to say, except to regret that our fraternal and honorable Register of the Land Office...

General Wilcox, late in command of the Department of Arizona, is again after the body of Oshkosh Currier...

There seems to be thriving with the prohibition amendment. We should be glad to see such an amendment to the Constitution of the United States...

Governor Cahill, of Georgia, who is also a candidate for United States Senator from that State, has declared himself in favor of an amendment...

A surgeon with the British troops in Afghanistan has found the diluted juice of willow leaves to be an effective substitute for quinine in the treatment of intermittent fever.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

An Enthusiastic Gathering—Prickets First, Last, and Always.

The Oxnida County Republican Convention met in Malad at 8 o'clock on the evening of the 14th inst. in the Oxnida County Court House...

The following resolutions were then adopted: Resolved, That the proceedings of this Convention be published in the Idaho Enterprise, and that the bill be sent to the Central Committee for the same.

Resolved, That the proceedings be published in the Blackfoot Register provided there is nothing paid for the same.

Resolved, That the bill be sent to the Central Committee for the same.

THE SOBRIEHEADS.

Six of the Everythings-Oxensides Most Have a Pow-Wow.

A convention of sobrieh, juncobed when-it-pays Republicans was called some two weeks ago through the medium of a dirty sheet in Blackfoot...

Monday morning the streets were filled with three delegates from Blackfoot, two from Oxford, and one proxy from Arimo...

The convention was called to meet at 2 p. m. Monday, at the school house, and a representative of the Everythings-Oxensides...

At 4 o'clock p. m. the Everythings-Oxensides representative ran across one of the Big Six...

At the appointed hour the ENTERPRISE representative was on hand at the school house...

Prof. Rabbitts and wife left last night for their home in Salt Lake City. May possibly attend them wherever they may be.

Married—Ply J. Anderson, J. P. a Hamilton Creek, Utah, William Bradley to Mrs. Jesse St. Clair...

The Soda Springs mail line is now furnished with good spring wagons, and will accommodate all the passengers that desire to go to that summer land.

Born—On Wednesday, Aug. 16th, to the wife of John Baker, a daughter, Mother and child doing well, but John is still under the doctor's care...

Mr. F. C. Woods, Joseph McFadden, Esch Sawyer, Hiram Sawyer, Fred Sawyer, and William Weeks, of Malad, were called this week.

None of the Big Six's credentials were rejected—and one of the Big Six stated that they expected to see more delegates present...

A motion was then made to elect delegates to the Territorial Convention, and it was carried...

The Big Six then made up a County Committee, consisting of H. O. Harkness as chairman, and A. D. Dahlen, Esq., of Oxford, W. N. Shilling, of Ross Fork, H. M. Bennett, of Oxford, J. H. Lugin, of Blackfoot, and the Big Six...

Mr. W. R. Thews, of Malad—to whom we send greeting for the honor conferred.

LOCAL NOTES.

Mr. D. D. Jones, of Ogden, member of the Idaho Lumber company, is visiting Oxford.

W. H. Homer's large barn is fast nearing completion, and will soon be filled with hay and oats.

Wm. T. Johns and John Hillen, of Montpelier, Bear Lake county, were visitors in Oxford this week.

Jarvis Henderson, of Clifton, has been very sick under the charge of Dr. House for the past few days.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harris died Saturday last, of scarlet fever, and was buried Sunday night at 6 o'clock p. m.

Prof. Rabbitts and wife left last night for their home in Salt Lake City. May possibly attend them wherever they may be.

MALAD CITY DEPARTMENT.

Malad Valley Department: The farmers are very busy here just now harvesting oats. Hay is nearly over, and the wheat harvest will be gathered. Malad valley looks very pretty now, with a patch of green here and a strip of yellow there. We desire to say to our farmers that, to our eye, a stock of ripened wheat looks far better than the tallest sunflower that can be grown. Crops are all looking well, even the sunflower crop.

The Idaho Enterprise. PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY THE ENTERPRISE PUBLISHING COMPANY, OFFICE, ENTERPRISE BUILDING, MALAD CITY, IDAHO, AUGUST 17, 1882.

It is estimated that this year's wheat crop of Oregon will be one-third larger than it has ever been before.

An Illinois farmer gives the following directions for curing galled shoulders in horses, and says that it is infallible. Take old leather and burn it to a crisp; rub the ashes on the galled part. A few applications will effect a perfect cure.

The Ashcroft, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, through its branches, commences with the Southern Pacific road in two States and one Territory, namely: El Paso, Texas; Doming, New Mexico, and tidion, California. It will soon have a through line to the Pacific Coast.

Following is the new French Cabinet: Ducloux, President of the Council and Minister of Foreign Affairs; Falloux, Minister of the Interior; Deville, Under Secretary of the Interior; Deves, Minister of Justice; Guent, Minister of Public Instruction; Tirard, Minister of Finance; Gen. Billot, Minister of War; Jureguiberry, Minister of Marine; Cochery, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs; De Maizy, Minister of Agriculture; Pierre Legrand, Minister of Commerce.

The English Stockmaster has settled two points in British experience. First, that mutton is more profitable than wool; and, second, that among English mutton-campuses there is a decided preference for down or black-faced mutton. Tender, juicy flesh, with a fine grain and a rich flavor, ripe and dry carrying plenty of lard meat, is what which suits the English market. A consultation of these qualities is found to most perfection in some of the black or gray-faced breeds or their crosses. This preference on the part of buyers is so marked that the butcher is enabled to give at least two cents per pound more for darkened mutton than for any of the white-faced and long-would sheep.

During July 999 miles of railway were constructed in this country. This, added to the 4,900 miles reported for the first half the year, gives a total of 5,899 miles up to August 1st. Texas leads 129 miles added to five lines, Ohio ranks second with 894 miles on five lines, New York third with 743 miles on nine lines, Colorado fourth, Iowa and Montana fifth and sixth respectively, Georgia, Arkansas and Oregon rank seventh together, Indiana and Minnesota fill the eighth rank, Idaho the ninth, Illinois the tenth, with 38 miles added to two lines, and so down to the end of a list including 30 States and Territories, the rear rank being made up of Kansas and Wisconsin, each of which added but two miles to their railway systems.

There has been 930 tornadoes recorded in the country during the past 87 years, and of this number 316 have appeared in eight of the middle and western States since 1814. Kansas has had 72 in 24 years, Illinois 24 since 1853, and New York 65 since 1830. All storms of the kind move from the west to east at from 12 to 20 miles an hour, and the average width of the path of destruction is 1,085 feet. The wind within the vortex sometimes gets a velocity of 800 miles an hour, but the average is 202 miles. Tornadoes generally occur between the hours of 5 and 8 p. m., but no hour in the day has been entirely free from them. More come in June than in any other month, more in April than in July, and more in May and September than in August. It is said they never occur at night.

The Deadly Toy Pistol.

There are two kinds of toy pistols. One uses a small cartridge, charged with pure rifle powder, and similar in all respects, except size, to the ordinary pistol cartridge; the other explodes a detonating wafer, charged with a fulminating compound. The latter is supposed to be the dangerous weapon. The fulminate of mercury with which the wafer is charged is known to be a nerve poison when taken into the circulation. It can be administered internally without serious danger. But if it passes into the system from the outside through an abrasion or cut, it will almost surely produce lockjaw and ultimately cause death. The toy pistols are clumsy instruments. The wafers seldom explode promptly, and even when they do, throw off sparks and fragments which may injure the pistol hand. If through these wounds the fulminate of mercury gets into the blood, lockjaw is a natural result.

Cruelty to animals is the crime of covards. Read This! The subject of entertaining and wholesome reading for the family circle, is one of practical interest in every household. It is generally held that the literary of the American press is in too large a degree uninteresting and unprofitable. In some instances even the sensibilities of purity and respectability are so far from being against the all pervading desire of being entertained, that in the presentation of news, the exceptions to this common rule are so few as to be worthy of notice when encountered. The Chicago Western News is one of the few papers of which it may be said that it is an entertaining paper, and that it is as entertaining as it is useful.
