WETA SPRING WATER. Soda Springs, June 12th. Soda Springs, Idaho. The grade is (in)cluded through here, and all is back of being a railroad town in the track and engine. There is some heavy life and rockwork between this point and Portneus, which probably will not be finished until August. R. Kippich has all the heavy work on the job, and report says he is a first-class railroad operator.

Holiday will soon finish his work here and move on toward Wood River for the purpose of grading in the vicinity. A stranger, Sam Arison, was buried here yesterday. He came here and put up at Williams' hotel three days ago. He was sick when he came. From papers found on his person, it was learned that his name was Budd, and that he had a wife, children and another living in Elmira, N. Y. He was about thirty-five years old, was neatly dressed, and was highly recommended by parties in New York and Salt Lake cities. Report says a watch and some other articles were all that was found in his possession. A stranger stepped with him the night he died for the consideration of $100, but left the following day on the Empidon stage.

A few days ago one of our enterprising butchers undertook to carve a pig from an animal that used obscene language in the presence of ladies in his shop, but the critter was too agile and got away with whole loins. If he had succeeded, and the critter had proved as tough as his beefsteak, a dentist would be required to furnish solars for his customers. It is not necessary, and the critter had not yet begun to make his appearance, as is usual at this time of the year, and thousands of gallons of acidulated waters are daily running to waste.

The health of this place is very good at present, and if I had just a bit more faith I would believe that if a chemo viscid placed in on its ear and three day's time it would walk off on its ear and be taking an unknown language. It is a Porcage.
